UNLEASHING THE INDUSTRY'S PASSION AND POTENTIAL:: EMPOWERING LEADERS IN THE SPACE COMMUNITY

Abstract

Throughout the history of space, people have been working to create a network of leaders around the world who are willing to speak passionately about space, to work together across discipline and state boundaries all to realize our vision of creating a spacefaring society.

An infusion of new energy and talent into the workforce have revitalized these efforts and gotten people dreaming again.

This talk will explore recent successes and invite others to look at what really working at the edges of our thinking can make possible. From creating new breakthrough technologies or approaches to having people be engaged and inspired about their work again, to having the public clamoring for our missions.
